Blossom Fiesta Planned As Prelude to Festival

Directors of the Penticton Peach Festival Association last night laid preliminary plans for a Blossom Fiesta in Penticton early in May. A prelude to the Peach Festival, Aug. 5, 6, 7 and 8, the blossom-time celebration will centre around a gala ball in Penticton Memorial Arena for which it is planned to have a "big name band" provide the music. Girls selected for the 1959 Peach Festival queen and princesses will be announced at the ball. The celebration will be held on the Saturday of Blossom Week, tentatively slated for May 8. Activities will depend on when fruit trees can be expected to be in full bloom. The Penticton Board of Trade will assist in the arrangements. Meanwhile the Peach Festival Association is proceeding with plans for the biggest and most varied Peach Festival ever held. An offer from Western Canada Parachute Club at Vancouver to put on a parachute jump display at the peach festival is being considered along with a parade for children, supplementary to the main festival parade of other years. Penticton Rotary Club is also planning reorganization of its agricultural-industrial exhibition at the festival with an eye to more appeal and attractions. The Peach Festival directors have still to name a president for 1959; however, E. H. Cotton, 1958 president, is carrying on until a successor has been named.

TODAY'S BULLETINS

Careless Driving Law Valid Rules Court

TORONTO (CP) — The Ontario Court of Appeal today quashed an Ontario Supreme Court judgment of two months ago which ruled Ontario's careless driving law invalid. The appeal court's judgment, a 3-to-2 decision, apparently opens the way for prosecution of hundreds of careless driving cases in the province which had been delayed awaiting the decision.

U.S. Pipeline Firms Plan Big Expansion

DETROIT (AP) — Signing of a contract which will link Michigan Consolidated Gas Company with the vast new gas fields of Western Canada and provide natural gas for upper Michigan was announced today by Michigan Wisconsin Pipeline Company. The huge program of pipeline construction and expansion will cost two pipeline companies approximately $95,000,000.

Ike Urged to Withdraw Oil Restrictions

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senator George D. Aiken (Rep.-Vt.) today urged President Eisenhower to withdraw his March 10 order restricting crude oil imports "before irrevocable damage shall have been done to our economic and political system." Aiken called the order a "classic in contradictions." He reminded the Senate that only a few days before the order New England members of Congress had urged the president not to take such action.

Sidney Smith to be Buried in Nova Scotia

OTTAWA (CP) — External Affairs Minister Sidney Smith will be buried in his native Nova Scotia. A state funeral for the 62-year-old diplomat and former University of Toronto president, who collapsed and died Tuesday, will be held Thursday.

Civil Servants Pushed Into Strike Says CCFer

VICTORIA (CP) — CCF leader Robert Strachan charged Tuesday night that Premier Bennett's Social Credit government pushed the province's civil servants into a strike. Mr. Strachan said it was an "unhappy day for the province when the government has to go to court to force free citizens of this province to go back on the job." The opposition leader sparked the first debate on the subject since the province's 11,000 government employees staged a four-hour strike last Friday. The strike ended when the government obtained an anti-picketing court injunction. The injunction was argued Tuesday at Vancouver and on the outcome hinges the question of whether the strike will be resumed. Other CCF spokesmen charged the government was negligent in letting matters go so far, that it was "trying to drive the civil servants to their knees."

Sex Education No Cause for Worry — Walrod

NANAIMO (CP) — School children's natural curiosity for reading matter teaches them about sex, the Chant-royal commission enquiring into provincial education heard here Tuesday. The opinion came from commissioner R. P. Walrod during the presentation of briefs by Nanaimo school board, Lady Smith and Nanaimo teachers' association, the university Women's Club and Mount Benson Parent-Teachers Association. Mr. Walrod said sex education in today's school system should be of little concern. He said it was only necessary to put text books within reach and natural curiosity would cause them to read. Emphasizing he was only expressing a personal opinion, Mr. Walrod then asked the teachers if the emotional, physiological and religious aspects of sex discussed in "carefully written" text books were not better than the spoken word. The teachers agreed they were.

Big Mountain Slide Isolates B.C. Centre

BUT $220,000 VOTE PASSED

Civil Defence Setup Called 'Farce' in B.C.

VICTORIA (CP) — A liberal member told the legislature Tuesday night that it might as well throw out a $227,000 vote for civil defence for all the effectiveness civil defence has in the province. "I wonder if we couldn't save $227,000 by abandoning civil defence," said George Gregory of Victoria. He added that if there was to be a civil defence organization it should be in charge of someone who would do a job. He suggested as now organized Civil Defence was a farce. Premier Bennett jumped into the debate saying he hoped there would be "no sense headline that there is no need for civil defence." That would be a tragedy, the premier said. If civil defence was not all it should be it was because "ordinary people are not taking enough interest." "This is the most serious question that could come before this house or any other house in the dangerous world in which we live today," the premier said. The $227,000 vote was passed, but not before some members had agreed with Mr. Gregory that there was no around-the-clock warning system. There was "not a can of beans" to feed people at proposed evacuation centres. Cedric Cox (CCF — Burnaby) agreed and said evacuation plans were a farce. He mentioned the Pattullo bridge across the Fraser River at New Westminster, which was supposed to be a civil defence evacuation outlet but which could hardly handle ordinary traffic volume. Today, the legislature will study public works estimates. Morning sessions begin Thursday in an effort to finish complete business for prorogation Friday. Leo Nimick (CCF — Cranbrook) also criticized the lack of interest in civil defence and said there was just no defence against modern nuclear weapons. The only solution was peace and perhaps the money would be better spent promoting peace. Tony Gargrave (CCF — MacKenzie) who served with civil defence in London during the Second World War said it would be negligent for any government not to provide at least the nucleus of an organization which could be expanded in time of emergency. Provincial Secretary Black told Gordon Downing (CCF — Burnaby) he had no information on any advances in methods of dealing with radiation fallout. Opposition members also asked the government to revise the system of enumerating voters in future provincial elections. CCF leader Strachan asked the provincial secretary whether there would be a voters' list issued before the next provincial election. Mr. Cox and Mr. Harding suggested that the provincial government should have enumerated lists prepared first before every provincial election as does the federal government. Mr. Black said he would take the matter under consideration. Mr. Cox later described Colquitz Mental Hospital near Victoria as a "dungeon." He said the Saanich institution was the worst he had ever seen. Inmates were "like a bunch of animals waiting for the slaughter," he said. Provincial Secretary Black said it wasn't as bad as that. It was true that it was an old jail, but it housed the criminally insane for the most part, people for whom there was little or no hope of recovery, he said. He added the government is looking for a site for a new mental hospital on Vancouver Island.

U.S. Prepares New German Treaty Draft

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States has prepared a tentative draft of a German peace treaty for possible use in a foreign ministers meeting with Russia. By contrast with Russia's peace treaty proposal of several weeks ago, the U.S. provisions would leave the way open for a sovereign all-German government to forge whatever links it wished with neighboring nations and other countries of the world. The U.S. document — some officials say it is more a statement of principles than a tentative treaty draft — has been proposed to Britain, France and West Germany for discussion. The Western European allies were reported today to be cool to the idea of carrying forward plans for a German peace treaty at this time. They apparently feel that under Western conditions for actually negotiating and signing such a pact, the more urgent problems are those involved in reunifying Germany. The United States, officials here said, is not pressing the issue. But U.S. officials emphasize that the Soviet government obviously intends to raise the question of a peace treaty at a foreign ministers meeting, and they want the Western powers to be ready to meet it in some way. FIRST STEP UNITY Western planning now is based on the idea that the essential first step in solving the problems of Germany is some move toward reunifying the divided country and creating an all-German government. Western policy planners are talking about the creation of a federation to bring East and West Germany under a single political roof. Over a period of several years the powers of the central federal government would gradually be increased and the powers of the present East and West German regimes would correspondingly decrease. One possible way to set up a central administration, now being considered, would be to base it on the German provinces or states, called lander. There are 10 of these in West Germany and traditionally five in East Germany, where they are no longer recognized.

Slink Veal Sale On Island Poses Health Hazard

VICTORIA (CP) — Dr. Elizabeth Mahaffy, medical health officer here, said Tuesday that the sale of veal from one-day old calves was creating a health hazard. Supporting the Victoria-Esquamalt health board's bid for by-laws prohibiting the sale of un-inspected meat was being brought into the city. Calves should be at least three weeks old before being considered as fit for human consumption.

Road, Communications Cut at Prince Rupert

PRINCE RUPERT (CP) — A huge landslide 1,000 feet long poured down the mountains along the Skeena River 50 miles east of here Tuesday, cutting off Prince Rupert's road, rail, telegraphic and telephone communications.

The slide occurred late Tuesday afternoon at Salvas, mile 64.7 on the Canadian National Railway line between Jasper, Alta. and Prince Rupert. It buried the CNR tunnel, swept away tracks, knocked over eight telegraph poles west of the tunnel and four poles east of it. The mud and rock slide also cut long-distance telephone lines from Prince Rupert to the east and south and wiped out news service to the Prince Rupert Daily News.

Only communication with the outside was through the department of trans Digby Island radio station. Highway and railway crews worked through the night on rail and road lines and there was hope they would be able to resume some traffic today. Telephone and telegraph services were still out this morning and there was no indication how soon they would be restored. Telegraph officials said a few messages were getting through via the radio setup at Digby Island.

Nine Month Jail Sentence Follows Indecent Assault

An indecent assault on a juvenile girl earlier this month resulted in a nine-month jail sentence for a Penticton man today. Paul Joseph Neickarz, 43, admitted the offence and was sentenced by Magistrate H. J. Jennings. The assault took place March 8 in Penticton Memorial Arena. In other court action, Stanley Buick, Penticton, was fined $50 and costs for consuming liquor in a public place. Charge was laid after Buick was spotted drinking near the corner of Main and Eckhardt earlier this month.

IWA OFFICIAL SAYS

Loggers' Life 'Unbelievable'

KINGSTON, Ont. (CP) — Alex McAuslane, international representative of the International Woodworkers of America (IWA), says "unbelievable conditions" in the daily existence of IWA loggers in Newfoundland led to the unrest there. Addressing the Kingston Labor Council, the former vice-president of the Canadian Labor Congress described the loggers' life as he saw it two years ago when he helped found the IWA in Newfoundland. "In one bunkhouse I visited I discovered 100 men sleeping in cramped conditions. Four men occupied a space six feet wide by six feet high." He told how loggers hung up their wet clothes at night after a day in the bush, and the next morning put the still-wet garments back on. "Outside each bunkhouse there was one barrel of water in which the men washed their clothes. When this was completed, the water was used for drinking purposes."

U.S. to Fire Three-in-One Satellite Soon

WASHINGTON (AP) — Plans to launch a Vanguard three-in-one satellite were announced Tuesday at a celebration of the first anniversary of Vanguard I. Dr. John P. Hagen, director of Project Vanguard, said the launching of Vanguard III would take place at Cape Canaveral, Fla., soon. He said it was designed to provide, in effect, three separate satellites.

The empty case of the third stage rocket of the launching vehicle. This will be a metal tube weighing about 52 pounds. A plastic sphere 13 inches in diameter, with an arm extending out about two feet. The end of the arm will contain a magnetometer, to measure the earth's magnetic fields. It is a satellite, the end so that it will not be disturbed by the metal parts inside the sphere. This satellite will weigh about 22 pounds. An expandable balloon 30 inches in diameter, weighing 1 1/2 to two pounds. This is the way scientists hope it will work.

The balloon will be folded into a small tray at the base of the plastic sphere. When the three-stage launching vehicle's nose separates from the final stage rocket, a gas cartridge will inflate the balloon.

U.S. Defence Chiefs Face Questioning

By EDMOND Le BRETON
WASHINGTON (AP) — Defence chiefs face questioning today as to what kind of war the United States would fight if the Berlin crisis exploded.

Democratic Representative Wayne L. Hays of Ohio said Tuesday he considers such questions pertinent to what kind of military foreign aid should be approved.

Defence Secretary Neil McElroy and Gen. Nathan F. Twining, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, were called as witnesses before the House of Representatives foreign affairs committee, which is considering President Eisenhower's $3,930,000,000 foreign aid program.

WANT CLARIFICATION

Hays, a committee member, said he wanted to question the military officials "to clarify President Eisenhower's apparent statement that we would not use ground troops in Europe."

Hays said this statement, coupled with earlier administration statements that the United States would not fire the first intercontinental ballistic missile "might be taken as a blank cheque."

"I don't think the president meant that," Hays said, "but it seems to me he may well be misunderstood by (Soviet Premier) Nikita Khrushchev."

AID LOSES VALUE

Hays said in an interview that if the United States really does not mean to use ground troops in any possible European clash, the argument that military aid is needed to maintain a shield of such troops loses most of its value.

A special presidential advisory group headed by William H. Draper Jr. recommended Tuesday a $400,000,000 increase in the $1,600,000,000 Eisenhower has proposed for military aid. The Draper group suggested that the extra funds be used largely to provide more missiles and jet aircraft to North Atlantic Treaty allies.

Indians 'Have Good Cause for Dissatisfaction'

TORONTO (CP) — Senator James Gladstone of Alberta, whose mother was a full-blooded Indian, said Tuesday the Six Nations Indians near Brantford, Ont., have good cause for dissatisfaction with their elected council.

The senator, writing in an article for The Star, said he visited the Six Nations reserve Monday to investigate the dispute between the elected council and hereditary chiefs.

The chiefs lost their power in 1924 when the federal government set up an elective system to take care of tribal matters. Senator Gladstone said: "If the elected council . . . had ever learned to function properly, the Indians of the Six Nations would not be in trouble now."

WORKED IN SECRET

The council was not acquainted with the democratic procedure of keeping the electorate informed. Much of its business had been shrouded in secrecy.

"Only a favored few knew what went on at the council house at Ohsweken, the principal community of the 30,000-acre reserve."

"If the council does not understand its responsibilities, why has it not been helped to learn by the Indian affairs branch?" the senator asked.

British Party Arrives in Muted Ottawa for Talks

By ALAN HARVEY

Canadian Press Staff Writer
OTTAWA (CP) — Prime Minister Macmillan, heading a bulky British party of 28, today brought the "message from Moscow" to an Ottawa saddened by the death of External Affairs Minister Smith.

The prime minister was scheduled to arrive at suburban Uplands airport at 5:30 a.m. MST. The sudden death Tuesday at his Ottawa home of the 62-year-old external affairs minister left a feeling of sadness in government offices as the British party arrived, but it was decided to carry on the talks. Only a few social frills were eliminated.

DISTRESSED AT DEATH Before leaving London, Mr. Macmillan sent a message to Prime Minister Diefenbaker expressing distress at news of Mr. Smith's death.

Mr. Macmillan, accompanied by Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd, planned meetings with Mr. Diefenbaker and senior Canadian officials on the German problem, viewed in the light of the British leader's 10-day journey to Russia and subsequent visits to Paris and Bonn.

ANOTHER STEP Canadian officials regard the prime minister's visit here as another stage in the long process of Western consultation on the central problem of the cold war. "It is another piece in the mosaic of personal friendship," said a senior official.

Canadian and British views on Germany are believed already closely aligned, but Mr. Macmillan undoubtedly will welcome the opportunity of obtaining full Canadian backing for any "approach" on Germany he may wish to make to Mr. Eisenhower Wednesday.

Leading statesmen and educationists in Canada and abroad have contributed to the flood of posthumous tributes to the Hon. Sidney Smith.

Prime Minister Diefenbaker, announcing Mr. Smith's sudden death to the Commons Tuesday, said that in 18 months as external affairs minister Mr. Smith had "discharged his international responsibilities with great capacity."

"Indeed, all over the free world today, the leaders of free countries join together in expressing their appreciation of that service which he gave so selflessly and so devotedly."

WHOLE-SOULED, GENEROUS Opposition Leader Pearson, former Liberal external affairs minister, said Mr. Smith was "a man who served his country all the days of his life; as a soldier, a teacher, a university president and a minister of the Crown. He was a happy, whole-souled and generous person who made friends and kept friends easily."

CCF House Leader Hazen Argue said news of the death was shocking, "especially so for those of us who have come to know him well, for Sidney Smith was a man who did not allow partisan considerations to stand in the way of personal friendship."

Dag Hammarskjold, secretary-general of the United Nations, described Mr. Smith as "a sincere and devoted friend of the United Nations and the aims for which it stands. His counsel, assistance and leadership will be missed in United Nations circles."

SORELY MISSED Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., chief United States UN delegate, said that "through close association with Mr. Smith 'I came to appreciate vividly the scope of his contributions to Canada, to the free world and to the cause of peace. He will be sorely missed.'"

U.S. State Secretary Dulles expressed his profound shock and personal sadness at Mr. Smith's death, which "represents a distressing loss to Canada and to all those with whom he came in contact."

MIXUP ENTRIES POURING IN

Big job is tackled by Bill Thompson of the Herald staff, helping sort hundreds of entries to the big "Fix the Mixup" contest. First prize of a plane trip to the Calgary Stampede for two is drawing entries from all over the South Okanagan. Contestants can better their chances of winning by adding originality to their entries. Contest series number must be included or a submission cannot be considered. (Photo by Owen Templeton)

Seven Stages of Child Development Outlined

PEACHLAND — A disappointing small crowd turned out to hear the noted psychologist, Dr. Samuel R. Laycock, who has devoted his life to education and is an authority on child development and mental health. The lecture was arranged by the P-TA and the president, Mrs. Norman Bradbury, chaired the meeting, with David Pritchard, principal of the elementary school, introducing Dr. Laycock, and D. A. K. Fulk, local representative of School District 23, expressing thanks for the very informative talk.

Dr. Laycock traced the development of the child from infancy to the teen-ager in a series of seven stages. He remarked that parents should "want" their children and that a child has the right to come into the home and feel welcome. Parents who do not agree on discipline, or show favoritism, sometimes make a child feel insecure. Expecting too much of a child may also give a feeling of insecurity.

ENCOURAGE SELF-CONTROL. In the second phase of development, at the age of two, a sense of development begins to show. Self-confidence and self-control should be encouraged. This is the age of laying the foundation of confidence. Self-control must be developed and a sense of independence is also important, Dr. Laycock explained.

In the third phase, four to six-year-olds begin to reach out into the world of adults and the sense of initiative is very strong. The four-year-old is always asking questions, "Why?" and "How?" but his curiosity is only temporary. Becoming a six-year-old is a landmark in a child's development. He is ready for specific new experiences. Starting to school is a big event in a child's life and a big adjustment for him.

In the fourth phase, six to eight years, is marked by a great need for achievement. A child wants to do things for himself, and it is very important that he has a sense of achievement. Dr. Laycock stressed that a child has the right to work at what he can at will, and succeed in a good effort.

PRE-ADOLESCENCE. In the fifth phase, eight to 12 years, is the period of pre-adolescence. The important stage of growing up. Children are quite unpredictable but are quite normal at this age, Dr. Laycock remarked.

The teen-age phase is called "The Sense of Identity." Teenagers want to be treated as grown-ups and they want to do what the crowd does. A number of conflicts come between parents and teen-agers. The chief one is the hour they come in at night, also the number of nights out a week.

CITY & DISTRICT Mayor at Three Meetings Tomorrow

Mayor Charles E. Oliver may not be desirous of ubiquity but he is going to try to be in three places at once.

He has been asked to attend meetings of the Pentiction Ratepayers Association and the Skaha Lake Ratepayers Association. Also he wants to be at the monthly meeting of Pentiction Board of Trade. All three are held tomorrow night.

The mayor plans to go to the Board of Trade dinner first, then he will join the Pentiction ratepayers group for about an hour and polish off the evening with an address to the Skaha Lake group which has asked him to give an account of recent events at city hall.

The Skaha Lake meeting will be in the Princess Margaret Elementary School beginning at 7:30 p.m. and Pentiction Ratepayers will meet in the Odd Fellows' Hall beginning at 8 p.m.

The Board of Trade meeting will feature an address by Fred C. MacKay of the B.C. Department of Trade and Industry, and group discussion by members on "Industry and Promotion of New Industry in Our Area."

Group findings will be pooled for a general discussion to top off the evening.

The dinner meeting begins at 6:30 p.m. and will be similar in form to the April meeting when topic for group discussions will be "Tourist Promotion."

A member of the board of trade's industrial committee will sit in with each group tomorrow night.

AT YOUR LIBRARY Books of Intrigue, Travel, Adventure

New books recently received at the Pentiction branch of the Okanagan Regional Library, include the following six titles, typical of the variety of current literature for every reading preference.

FICTION TITLES
"Naked Villain" by Jocelyn Davey — There is a saying in Oxford that the trained mind can sum up all the problems of practical life. Perhaps so, but the problems confronting Ambrose's highly trained mind were many and varied. They included some prizeless beach scrolls, a beautiful Hungarian blonde and an eccentric Duchess, to say nothing of a consignment of 25 monkeys. Readers who enjoyed his earlier "The Undiscovered Dead" will find this one not lacking in the same charm.

"A Narrow Place" by Merlot Trevor — Coming back from England after her husband's death by drowning, the heroine of this tale visits her in-laws in the little country town in which they live, and finally discovers what it means to feel really alive.

"The Visitor" by Mary Minnie — Setting of this novel is a country behind the Red Curtain, recognizably Poland. The heroine is the wife of a member of a British Mission who has been posted to one of the major provincial cities. She becomes involved with many types of people, and the result is a situation that is charged with comedy, tragedy and ever-increasing danger for all concerned.

NON-FICTION
"Sold for Silver" by Janet Lim — An autobiography of a Chinese girl, who was sold to an elderly merchant in Singapore. The local Christian Mission procured her release, sent her to school and arranged for her to be trained as a nurse. When the war came she found herself in Sumatra. Her adventures were many, and the story of her life from then on is told with clarity and distinction. The book has been very highly reviewed.

"West of the Indus" by William O. Douglas — The author who has been an associate justice of the United States Supreme Court since 1939, is an ardent traveller and has made extensive trips into the remote corners of Asia and the Middle East. This last book tells of his wanderings in the Khyber Pass and Northern Afghanistan and is informative and exciting.

"John, King of England" by T. Appleby — Chivalry, duplicity, conspiracy, the sack of great castles, interdict and excommunication, alliance and disaffection — these are the elements of a rich and readable biography of the King who lost his treasure crossing the Wash, and his absolute power at Runnymede.

New B.C. Law to Aid Valley Fruit Selling

VICTORIA (CP) — Marketing agencies will be able to promote better marketing and to conduct pools for distribution of all proceeds under legislation introduced in the B.C. Legislature.

The government bill amends the Natural Products Marketing (British Columbia) Act. It results from recommendations made by the MacPhee royal commission on the tree fruit industry and will have practical effect in the Okanagan fruit-growing areas.

A new provision authorizes any marketing agencies to conduct pools for the distribution of all proceeds received from the sale of regulated natural products.

It provides that the agency will distribute the proceeds of sale in such a manner that each person receives a share of the total proceeds in relation to the amount variety, size, grade and class of regulated products delivered by him and to make payments in respect thereof until the total net proceeds are distributed.

An explanatory note in the bill said this clause was similar to an Ontario provision recently upheld conditionally by the Supreme Court of Canada.

Under the amendments, boards will be permitted to "promote" as well as to control and regulate the transformation, packing, storage and marketing of natural products.

Two City PTA's Meet Tomorrow

Parents of Grade 9 students have a special invitation to the meeting of the Princess Margaret School P-TA tomorrow. A number of the teaching staff will outline the transition from junior to senior high.

Tomorrow night is also the date for the monthly meeting of the Primary-Jermyn Avenue P-TA in the Jermyn Avenue activity room beginning at 8 p.m. Special feature will be two films from the National Film Board's child development series: "From Socialable Six to Noisy Nine," and "From 10 to 12."

The Princess Margaret P-TA meeting, beginning at 8 p.m. in the school auditorium, will feature an outline of courses available at senior high, by Walter Bobbitt of the teaching staff. The transition from junior to senior high is an important step in a child's educational life. P-TA officials emphasize, and parents should be as well informed as possible so that they can give advice and encouragement.

VICTORIA (CP) — A survey here has revealed that 32 per cent of the industries employing 10 or more persons are not up to public health standards, health officer Dr. Elizabeth Mahaffy said Tuesday.

Three items are to be discussed. The first concerns school uniforms and the suggestion that if a community wants uniforms worn in schools, the matter should be implemented at the discretion of the school board.

Since the local organization feels the physique of Canadian children is not equal to that of children in other countries and that posture is also poor, consideration is urged for more rhythmic drill and less time to the subject known as health and personal development.

The third point is that since this is a bilingual country, French should be taught in the elementary schools.

Mrs. Clarence Adams, president, will be in the chair.

VICTORIA (CP) — School trustees chairman Richard Reeve said Tuesday that "about 37 per cent" of Greater Victoria school children complete Grade 12. He said it was the highest percentage in Canada.

TIPS FOR COSTUME CONTEST ENTRANTS

Newsprint Makes Bridal Gown, Mask

EDITOR'S NOTE—The annual Easter Egg Hunt and Costume contest sponsored by Pentiction Elks Lodge, is less than two weeks away now. For boys and girls who are making the newspaper costume for the contest, here is another column of tips on how to go about it. Entry forms for the contest are now available at the Woolworth Store. Prizes are an all-expense paid trip to Power River for four boys and girls 13 years of age and under are eligible.

By PAPER MATE
How would you like to see yourself in print?—newsprint that is. The big costume contest takes place as part of the Elks Easter Egg hunt on March 30, is now less than two weeks away but there's still time to get in the parade.

One difficulty with a newspaper costume is prevention of tearing when you move. Say you plan a drum majorette costume with a pleated skirt. I would suggest this pleat be made separately. Simply fold a double thickness of paper over and over and paste down the back. Make each pleat about four inches wide. Then overlap your pleats as desired and fasten by stitching at the waist.

This makes a skirt that will withstand a lot of high stepping. A gathered, frilled crinoline with sunbonnet to match, is always a heart-stealer. Likewise a bridal gown replete with cascading bouquet, made naturally, from the bright colored Sunday sections and a lovely veil of cut-classified ads bordered with scallops and punched perforations.

If you stitch your costume on a sewing machine, use a very large stitch to prevent cutting through the newspaper.

BRACH BALL FOR MASK
Now, while you're coaxing Mother to let you use her pinkie shears, the rest of us can inflate that huge beach ball—no, not the middle-sized one—the BIG one. For a Mardi Gras mask, the bigger the ball the better.

If we're making an animal head, say a tiger, bear, wolf or Mickey Mouse, we'll need three small balloons for the ears and nose.

This is what we'll do: cover the inflated beach ball with two-inch strips of wet newspaper. That's so the pasted strip will not stick to the beach ball. Now paste two-inch strips of torn newspaper this way and that, all over the ball. Be sure to leave an opening at the valve large enough to get your head through.

When the ball is smoothly covered, with three or four layers of paper, inflate the small balloons and fasten them in place for ears and nose. Simply fasten them down with pasted strips. Continue to paste paper over them until several layers cover the balloons.

When the paper is thoroughly dry, open the valve in the ball and let out the air. Remove the beach ball and try on your mask, for size. Locate the position of the eyes and mouth and cut them out. Be sure when you paint the mask, to enlarge the eyes to fit the head.

This type of mask lends itself to clown faces, old men with bald pates and a fringe of shredded paper hair, sailors with sailor hats, Maggie and Jiggs, Pinocchio—donkey ears and all, Indian braves and so on.

If the mask is really large, stuff it lightly with crumpled newspaper to shape it inside your head. Then fasten tapes to the back and front and tie down around your body.

Now decide what you will draw up. Anything goes so long as it is made of newspaper and I hope you enjoy the Easter Par-

Board of Trade Looking For Ideas on Industry

Tomorrow night should see the majority of critics of the board of trade answered.

Instead of sitting back and ignoring recent complaints that the industrial committee of the board is ineffective, the board will devote its entire dinner meeting tomorrow to what might be termed a giant ways and means committee. Any citizen with ideas on what industries would be suitable to the Penticton area, and how to bring those industries in, will have the opportunity during dinner time discussion to make his theories known. The board is to be complimented on its departure from normal procedure.

All the board asks is that if you intend to be present at the dinner you inform the secretary-manager so that suitable catering arrangements can be made. A simple enough gesture and one we hope the people with definite ideas on progress will make.

Industrial development is now recognized by most people as essential if Penticton is to grow. Competition is fierce and progressive ideas on what to do all too few.

If you have any such ideas tomorrow night is the time to make them known. The board and its industrial development committee will be found to have a receptive ear to any practical suggestion for the progress of the city.

That our city is already becoming known for its desire to encourage industry to locate here is perhaps best illustrated by an incident that occurred yesterday afternoon.

An electronics company in Vancouver phoned the board of trade office asking the price of industrial land. The information was provided and just a few hours later an information brief was on the way to the coast with a letter pledging full co-operation in the future.

Now is the time to capitalize on such a situation.

Your ideas are needed, and, who knows, the industry you have as a pet project could be the one to provide the next payroll for Penticton.

Grand River Indian Troubles

The recent disturbances at the Six Nations Indian Reserve near Brantford, Ont., in which the hereditary chiefs ousted the elective council, have many aspects of opera bouffe.

Their more serious aspects relate to the underlying dispute as to the exact constitutional status of the Indians, and the areas they occupy.

The Indian contention has increasingly been that the Six Nations are independent of Canada and a free nation in alliance with the British sovereign. In pursuance of which belief, the rebel elements posted a declaration of independence, warned the RCMP that they were trespassers and ordered them to move out.

Queen Elizabeth and Prime Minister Diefenbaker were notified, and President Eisenhower was asked to negotiate with the Six Nations government.

That these be high pretensions for a racial group of a few thousand in the heart of Ontario will be the natural reaction of most Canadians.

Actually, King George III, in 1784, following the American Revolution, granted the Six Nations an area of 700,000 acres on both sides of the Grand River in Upper Canada. Most of the area has since been sold by the Indians themselves, leaving perhaps 30,000 acres.

Whether George III retained ultimate sovereignty over the lands or relinquished it to Joseph Brant and his chiefs may be subject to legal interpretation.

So small an enclave of independent Indians might prove of value to Canada as a tourist attraction. Independence might give the Indians an opportunity to work out their destiny along original lines, with benefit to the entire race.

The danger is that the movement may spread to the other scattered Indian groups all across Canada, resulting in a nuisance of serious proportions, and a potential source of trouble in a country which has troubles enough as it is.

There may be significance in the fact that the promoter of the revolt, Wallace (Mad Bear) Anderson, is a Tuscarora Indian, resident in New York State. Indians are, we believe, free to cross the international boundary; but hardly, we should think, for the purpose of making trouble in Canada.

The long-standing dispute regarding the local government of the reserve arises from federal legislation which, in 1924, replaced the council of hereditary chiefs with an elective council. This movement toward greater democracy in tribal affairs naturally aroused some resentment among the dispossessed chiefs.

There is, however, uncertainty as to whether the hereditary or elective council is preferred by the Indians themselves. If a majority, in a free vote, prefer an hereditary council, they should have one. But ousting a duly elected council by force is no light matter.

As for the Indian contention that they are an independent nation over which Canada has no jurisdiction, that can be decided in either of two ways.

With parliament in session a special enactment might refer the legal aspects to the judicial committee of the Imperial Privy Council, since the original treaty or grant was made by the Imperial government.

The other is by a firm assertion of authority by Ottawa itself.

History-Making Sight in Victoria

By JAMES K. NESBITT
VICTORIA—Friday the 13th of March, 1959, will long be remembered in the political and legislative and government annals of British Columbia.

The House at all night—4:40 Friday morning, and little more than two hours later pickets were parading around the Legislative buildings—certainly a history-making sight.

Some MLA's, either exhilarated, or made punch-drunk by the all-night siting—arguing the new trades-union act—stayed up to see the arrival of the pickets, and after the strike was called off they went back into the buildings, and stayed right on their feet throughout the day.

What a day it was! Victoria hadn't had so much excitement in a long, long time.

These two most important men in the Legislature had disagreed about the Pacific Great Eastern Railway. The Premier, as Minister of Finance, brought in a $10,000,000 loan bill for the P.G.E. Mr. Strachan wanted to know exactly how the money would be spent. The Premier refused to give any details to Mr. Strachan, not wanting to fence himself in, where the PGE's concerns. No Premier ever fences himself in too much. If he does he's through.

Mr. Strachan said the PGE is public property, which it is, and public has a right to know how the PGE spends the public's money, yet, he said, the government, under Mr. Bennett "screams and shrieks" the PGE from the public's gaze. Mr. Strachan worked himself into a fine frenzy, though keeping himself under control, and crying it's nothing but what he called "arrant hypocrisy" keeping the people informed when all it does, in Mr. Strachan's opinion, is keep the public in the dark.

"I believe in the future of the PGE, but I don't believe in the future of this government," shouted Mr. Strachan, and the Premier looked not the least disturbed. The Premier, you see, hasn't much faith in Mr. Strachan's political prognostications.

More people suffer from arthritis than from heart disease, cancer, T.B. and diabetes combined.

Ways to Ease Varicose Veins

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

Someday we may be able to replace body parts to solve an age-old problem—varicose veins.

When cup-like valves which help push the blood through the main veins become weak or break down, varicose veins result. Even now medical research centres are studying possible methods of replacing these valves with man-made substitutes as an answer.

Substitute Valve The solution to this intriguing problem is not around the corner, but eventually I believe someone will come up with a substitute valve that will work.

Meanwhile, there is a lot you can do right now to help ease the situation.

Wearing elastic stockings is often advisable. But just stockings won't do, in many cases. Generally, a proper fit is extremely important. If your doctor suggests that stockings be made to order, it is suggested that leg and foot measurements be taken with care.

As a general rule, these measurements must be taken only after your legs have been elevated overnight to reduce the swelling.

Usually, a stocking that reaches the knee is long enough.

If you are overweight, your doctor, in all probability, will suggest that you reduce.

Don't stand for long periods, and don't sit in one spot for hours.

If you are compelled to sit for any length of time, such as during a long plane, train or auto trip, make sure you get up every half-hour or so and walk around for a bit.

When you are home watching television, keep your feet elevated on a chair or stool.

Cross your legs at the knees as little as possible since this hampers circulation.

When you sleep keep your legs elevated. Placing a 12-inch block under the foot of the mattress is better than using pillows. Better check with your doctor about this, though, since elevating the feet at night should be done only if you have good arteries.

Lying on your back performing the well-known "bicycle exercise" might be of help. Walking or swimming in deep water is fine for persons with varicose veins because the water helps push the blood up through the veins.

And, of course, avoid round garters. They tend to hinder circulation.

Paraguay's Leader Fears No Invasion

By BRIAN BELL

ASUNCION, Paraguay (AP)—Foreign military experts here doubt that revolutionaries could successfully invade Paraguay and overthrow President Alfredo Stroessner, Paraguay's strong man.

There have been reports in recent weeks that Paraguayan exiles are forming groups to invade their homeland from neighboring countries such as Argentina.

Foreign military experts expressed doubt when asked if revolutionaries could successfully invade Paraguay with a movement similar to that led by Fidel Castro which overthrew dictator Fulgencio Batista in Cuba.

ARMY ALERT

"The army could put down almost any real invasion from outside," said one expert. "It is alert and ready to do so. Of course, there could be a small-scale harrying action on a hit-and-run basis because the border is very long. However, I doubt if a full-scale invasion could succeed."

Another military man said: "As for a Castro-type manoeuvre, it could work only in the mountains along the Brazilian border and it would have to have a lot of support from within Paraguay. So far there does not seem to be any attempt to set up anything like this."

While dubious about the success of any planned invasion, the military men discount reports that the Paraguayan Army was the best equipped in South America.

One expert said the basic weapons of the Paraguayan Army were rifles made early in the Second World War. The army was described as having some machine guns, antiquated anti-tank weapons and a few modern arms.

"However, the Paraguayan soldiers are as well trained as possible with the equipment they have," he said, "and tough soldiers."

ON PARLIAMENT HILL

It Was Hectic Week in House

DAVID PUGH, MP (Okanagan-Boundary)

Friday the 13th saw the close of rather a hectic week. In the House estimates of the various departments were considered and an announcement was made on St. Lawrence Seaway tolls.

The main event was the arrival in Ottawa of over a thousand farmers. Their expressed purpose was to present a brief on deficiency payments and this was done in rather a spectacular manner. A long dais was set up in the main ballroom of the Chateau Laurier on which sat Mr. Diefenbaker and the whole of his cabinet, together with petitioners representing different walks of life in the prairie provinces. Seated below were the other farmers, petitioners, most of the members of parliament and various spectators.

The petition was presented, statements by certain of those seated on the platform were made and finally Mr. Diefenbaker made a reply. In giving this, he praised the delegation and stated that the government would give full and immediate consideration to the proposals. He was sorry that it was impossible for him to have received an advance copy of the brief. In his address he reviewed the early history and troubles of the western prairie farmers.

The delegates were here for three days and during this time they met in groups with various members so that all would have an understanding of the problem. As a member, I believe that this was one of the best things that could have happened. Altogether I talked things over with at least one hundred farmers from all over. Generally the feeling among members is that there is a real problem and something will have to be done to correct it. Whether this will be through the plan presented in the brief—namely, deficiency payments or by some other method remains to be seen. The House has a recess over Easter and I will be in Okanagan-Boundary during this period and would be delighted to see anyone with a problem.

OTTAWA REPORT

Dief Losing Out in Quebec

By PATRICK NICHOLSON

Why are so many voters leaving the Conservative ranks? Popular support for our Government is now declining at the fastest clip since the record-breaking Diefenbaker sweep at the polls last March.

Every administration normally loses favour slightly in the period following an election. This government proved to be an exception: during the three months after its sensational sweep last March, it actually picked up an additional ten per cent of support, almost entirely at the expense of the Liberals. But today all that post-election enthusiasm has waned. Since the height of last summer, one supporter in every ten has lost faith, and popular backing for the Conservatives is down once more to the level of Election Day. That still was high enough to give John Diefenbaker a record majority in Parliament.

The affection of the Prairie farmers for the Prairie lawyer gave him nearly one hundred per cent support in the Commons; they have cooled only slightly, despite their protest about wheat prices. Industrial Ontario supports him with almost as much enthusiasm as ever.

In the Maritimes, faith in the Government has even increased. The lesson of this is that thinking voters do not blame the Government for unemployment during the past eighteen months; for, as Liberal ex-Health Minister Paul Martin described in great detail in Halifax last week, "the Atlantic Provinces have as a whole the highest rate of unemployment of any region in Canada, nearly double the national average."

JUDGMENT AND FAITH In spite of this the Maritimers, with their great tradition of education and with the common sense of the seafarer, recognize that John Diefenbaker has the interests of the little man at heart, and is ensuring that his Government actively pursues his election promise of "fair shares for all, and favours for none."

But what ails Quebec, where the Prime Minister won more seats than any Conservative leader has ever won before? In that province, the Diefenbaker Government has experienced by far the sharpest drop in popular support recorded anywhere in Canada.

The cause for this appears to be the gross incompetence and lack of understanding in the direction of Tory affairs in that province. Quebecers, like their blood-brothers the French, wear their hearts on their sleeves. Marianne, the symbol of France and the prototype of Quebec, likes to be courted, not taken for granted. She enjoys pretty compliments and she blossoms on warm expressions, even if these are superficial. What she cannot tolerate is Anglo-Saxon sangfroid—even though it may conceal a warmer and more loyal heart—because it conceals and silences its emotions.

NO LONGER LOWER CANADA

That is how Quebec feels. Perhaps she is still not quite sure of her relationship with other provinces.

The dour Highland blood seems to have predominated over the warm Prairie heart in the Prime Minister's reactions to Quebec. And as far as the Conservative Party's relations with Quebec are concerned, that Province is neglected and disorganized, while the generally disastrous forays by outsiders are keynoted by opportunism.

Quebec's representation in the federal cabinet is by far the least effective of any province, with one exception. Two Ministers are slowed down by ill-health; there appear to be two vacancies unfilled; the senior Minister, who even lacks the prestige of a Departmental portfolio, is an unmarked in leadership as he has been in his other post as President of the National Conservative Association.

These are the matters, rather than the obvious grit in the machinery of government, which could be costing the Government its serious losses in Quebec.

Mr. Diefenbaker himself has taken the imaginative step of implementing bilingualism by initiating simultaneous translation in the Commons. This week he will be guest of honour at a big gathering, his first significant appearance in Quebec since the election.

But, lacking a distinguished lieutenant and respected advisers from Quebec, he has evidently been unable to achieve a meeting of minds with French-Canada. This is sadly eroding the welcome and praiseworthy national unity which was exemplified by his truly nationwide parliamentary support following the last election.

REPORT FROM THE U.K.

Village for Children Only

By M. MCINTYRE HOOD

Special London (England) Correspondent for The Herald

LONDON—England is going to have a village peopled only by children who are needy and orphaned. This has for some years been a dream of the well-known architect, Sir Hugh Cassen. In a short time, through the operations of a charitable trust headed by people like Sir John Wolfenden, the Earl of Listowel, the Earl of Harewood, Benjamin Britten and Sir Basil Henricque, it will become a reality.

The children's village, which will consist at first of some 20 multiple-roomed houses and a school, is to be located in Sussex near the town of Battle, the location of the famous Battle of Hastings by which William the Conqueror, in 1066 became the ruler of England. It is being modelled after a highly successful similar project, the Pestalozzi International Children's Village at Trogen in Switzerland.

FOR DISPLACED CHILDREN Even before the village is fully established, homeless children will be taken there to begin this unusual project. The first occupants of a house already on the property will be six children from a German displaced persons' camp. They will live temporarily in this house on the 174-acre site of the village. But eventually they and some 300 other children will move into the new village which is being built specially for them.

Chairman of the Trust which will administer the scheme is Henry Alexander. He stated its aims quite simply.

MAY GO TO DOMINIONS "There are three things we will insist on," he said. "The children must be over 11 years of age; they must be deprived of parental care and they must be needy. By growing up together, they will add something to the furtherance of international tolerance. When they grow up and are ready to leave the village, many of them will be given the opportunity of settling in the overseas dominions."

There will be no barriers of nationality in the selection of the children to be accepted for the village. Their need will be the primary consideration.

Canadians Reach Half-Way Mark in Meeting USC Pledge

Woman-like, the staff at Unitarian Service Committee headquarters, cannot keep a secret! With the next shipment of layettes to the Middle East, Canadian women will have reached the half-way mark in meeting the USC pledge to send 25,000 layettes to the Middle East.

Women in every walk of life, and from every age group have responded to the need of Arab refugee mothers who have little or no clothing for their newborn babies.

From Prescott, Ontario, an eighty-year-old widow sent a complete handmade layette, and from Winnipeg, Manitoba, an eleven-year-old girl sent six pairs of booties for "a baby whose family is not as fortunate as mine."

While outgrown baby clothing makes up a large share of the Middle East layettes, garments may also be made from the unworn portions of flannellette sheets or pyjamas. Further information on the USC "layette lift" may be obtained from Unitarian Service Committee headquarters, 78 Sparks Street, Ottawa.

GOURMET'S DELIGHT

Serve Broiled Fish With Tasty Sauces

It's a rare cook who isn't continually searching for intriguing ways to serving fish. This is the time of year when there is a special emphasis on fish dishes. And what better way of accessorizing a basic fish recipe than topping it with a peppy sauce! The sauce can be as simple or elegant as you desire and it can be interchanged with many different types of fish. Best of all, the busy homemaker or career girl will find she can whip up a tasty meal in next to no time.

Fresh or frozen fish fillets may be used. They should be broiled in a preheated broiler or oven only a few inches from the source of heat. Gauge the time by the thickness of the fish. Allow about ten minutes per inch thickness for fresh or thawed fish, and double the time for fish that is still in the frozen state. Before taking the fish out of the broiler, test it with a fork. When the fillets are done they will flake easily. The sauce recipes given can easily be varied by substituting the odd ingredient to suit your fancy. It's a good idea to build up a collection of such recipes. They can transform an ordinary dish into a "Gourmet's Delight!"

TOMATO-RABBIT SAUCE

1/2 pound Cheddar Cheese, grated (2 cups)
1 10-ounce can condensed tomato soup
1 tablespoon minced onion
2 tablespoons ketchup
1/2 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
1/2 teaspoon dry mustard
1 egg, beaten
Salt and pepper
2 slices tomato (if desired)

Melt cheese in top of double boiler. Add soup, onion, ketchup, Worcestershire sauce and mustard. Cook, stirring constantly, until heated through. Add mixture, little at a time, to beaten egg. Return to top of double boiler and cook, stirring constantly, for 5 minutes. Serve over fish. If desired, garnish with tomato slices. Makes about 2 cups sauce.

CAROL LANE demonstrates her filing system method of packing made possible through use of "luggage leaves". Miss Lane will address a meeting here March 25 sponsored by the Kiwassa Club.

Travel Authority Will Speak Here

Carol Lane, leading authority on touring for women, will speak on the topic "Rediscovery of Canada by Car", in the Hotel Prince Charles on March 25 at 8 p.m. under the sponsorship of the Kiwassa Club.

Miss Lane, who is women's travel director of the Shell Oil Company of Canada, travels thousands of miles each year researching the highways of the nation. In her talk here she will tell how her personal approach to travel can help woman make motoring vacations easier and more pleasant.

In addition, Miss Lane will tell about a new trend in travel—the discovery of little known places along the back roads; how to plan "Tourettes", weekend vacations; how to make travel an "adventure in learning"; how to plan a travel budget; and how to pack a car.

VISUAL DEMONSTRATION
One of the highlights of Miss Lane's talk will be a visual demonstration of how to plan a two-week vacation wardrobe. She will show her four basic costumes for any two-week vacation and explain how they can be mixed and matched to provide a complete travel wardrobe.

Often called the "first lady of touring", Miss Lane answers hundreds of queries yearly concerning travel problems. On her trips around the country, she searches out new practical ways of solving these problems and personally tests her results.

She is noted as the author of a newspaper column called "Tips on Touring", and her travel articles have appeared in many leading magazines.

Talk on Mental Health Given At Summerland W.I. Meeting

SUMMERLAND—Dr. N. W. Drutt of Kelowna was the guest speaker at Summerland W.I. on Friday. His subject, "Mental Health," was an interesting presentation of many facets of this type of illness.

Dr. Drutt said that many psychiatrists claim that 50 to 60 per cent of ailments can be attributed in some way to mental disease. His definition of mental health was the product of good thoughts and feelings emanating from a clear mind contained in a healthy body.

"The brain is the master organ which controls thoughts and actions," he said. "Impulses are sent from the brain to nerve centres. Impulses travel at the rate of 300 feet per second. Mental efforts require energy. You can get tired using your mental resources. When that source of energy goes away down mental ill health becomes apparent."

TO MAINTAIN GOOD HEALTH
To maintain good mental health, Dr. Drutt reported the following are essential: mental work, mental exercise, production of mental recovery from a mentally tired condition, mental efficiency,

"Brain work trains capacities of the mind and body to think clearly, to plan and make decisions. In exercising mental abilities school children study subjects which they do not use in later life but which help their minds to function developing them for adulthood," he continued.

"Fatigue of the mind results in inaccuracy, lack of concentration, listlessness, untidy and slipsnodd habits," he averred. "One must learn when to stop mental activity and get relaxation. It is a great art—to relax!"

EMOTIONS

The speaker mentioned that emotions have a great impact on one physically and the laws of mental health should be known and observed.

"It is difficult to assess a mental state," he said, "encouragement and understanding from others is necessary. Shock treatment is used to clarify the mind."

"Unity of body, soul and spirit is necessary for good mental health and lack of love in the world today is often the root of mental trouble. The principle behind recovery from a mentally tired condition, mental efficiency, should be offered carefully as it may lower a person's esteem and contribute to poor mental conditions." Summation was that all our lives should be in harmony to produce a sound mind.

There was a good attendance with a number of visitors. A donation was made to the Salvation Army.

A cheque was received from Mrs. F. R. Stark for the library table, funds for which are advancing, augmented by the silent auction and the birthday box.

USC LAYETTES

It was reported that the home economics committee has completed 31 layettes for the Unitarian Service Committee.

A report was heard on the meeting of the central welfare committee and an appeal was given for magazines and pocket editions for Summerland General Hospital.

Progress was reported on work for the fall fair. The valley rally will be held in Summerland on May 11 at the Youth Centre. Conveners are: display, Mrs. H. C. Whitaker; identification table, Mrs. Myrtle Scott; decorations, Mrs. Walter Wright; morning coffee, Mrs. William Brown; typing lunch tickets, Mrs. Gordon Dinning; corsages, Mrs. Alex Inch; luncheon, Mrs. Gordon Ritchie.

Tea was served convened by Mrs. William Brown and centered around a St. Patrick's Day theme.

Work of Baptist Women Reviewed at Meeting

Reports read at the March meeting of the John Hart Mission Circle of the First Baptist Church held at the home of the president, Dr. Flora Barr, testified to the extensive program of welfare services conducted by Baptist women in B.C. It was noted that in 1958 gifts were sent to the home of senior citizens, at Beulah Gardens, Vancouver, and to 105 women at Oakalla at Christmas.

The Penticton circle approved an annual budget of $100 for missions, and was in receipt of a letter expressing appreciation for clothing sent for distribution among needy Indians.

The John Hart Circle contributes $50 annually to the support of Miss Mary King who is serving with the Sudan Interior Mission in Nigeria. Mrs. Gordon Parker read the members a letter recently received from Miss King.

Mrs. J. Dekkers will arrange church flowers for Easter and Miss Muriel Young, vice-president, will be in charge of a showing of colored slides during April at a date to be arranged later.

An interesting display of books dealing with work in various mission fields was shown by Miss Carol Graham prior to an address by Mrs. Scott Williams on the new mission field in Angola, Africa.

There are 22 missionaries serving in this field which was taken over from an English mission in 1954.

Refreshments were served to conclude the meeting by Mrs. Dekkers and Mrs. Viola Clark.

New Violence Breaks Out in Newfoundland

By GERALD FREEMAN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

GRAND FALLS, Nfld. (CP)—An unidentified group of men wrecked the International Woodworkers of America (IWA) office at nearby Bishop's Falls early today in the latest incident in an IWA strike against the Anglo-Newfoundland Development Company.

Five IWA men, posted in the office as guards, escaped through the back door when the raiders began hacking through the front door with axes. There were no injuries.

The IWA men said the raiders arrived in two cars and a van. The number in the group was estimated at about 20. They chopped out the windows in the one-storey wooden office buildings, hacked at the outer walls and splintered the front door. A typewriter in the office was smashed by an axe.

RAIDER RECOGNIZED
An IWA man said he recognized one of the raiders as a Grand Falls resident.

The IWA office was first moved to nearby Badger after the windows of the office here were smashed by a crowd escorting the body of Constable William Moss, who was killed in a fight between police and loggers. The office was moved to Bishop's Falls Tuesday.

Today's violence shattered an uneasy calm. The IWA men said they received several anonymous threatening telephone calls Tuesday night. They were set to guard the office to prevent damage, but fled when they realized they were outnumbered.

Bishop's Falls, a town of about 2,500 miles from here, is regarded as a stronghold by the IWA. About half the work force are loggers, the other railway employees who support the IWA.

HAVE TWO WEEKS
C.R. Titterton, mill manager with Anglo-Newfoundland, said Tuesday if the cold weather lasts two more weeks the winter log drive will be cleaned up. The company anticipated no trouble in normal operations.

Hank Skinner, an organizer for the decertified IWA, said the company will be faced with a manpower shortage when the fishing season begins. He said fishermen who are working as loggers for the company will leave when the season opens.

"We'll keep up the strike indefinitely until we win," Mr. Skinner said.

The IWA says it is distributing relief cheques for $30 monthly plus grocery vouchers to 1,100 striking loggers in central Newfoundland. The union had 1,200 members when it struck for higher pay and shorter hours Dec. 31. The figures indicate that about 100 loggers left the union in the interim.

WON'T GO BACK
"The loggers are vowing not to go back until the IWA gets a contract," Mr. Skinner said. "The principles at stake could affect every province in Canada."

ILLITERATE BOY JAILED
VANCOUVER (CP)—An illiterate 18-year-old was sentenced Monday to 53 concurrent three-year terms in prison after pleading guilty to as many charges of breaking and entering and theft. If the sentences for Fred Gatenby had been made consecutive, they would have totalled 159 years.

He said that besides the 1,100 loggers in this area receiving cheques and vouchers, the union is also distributing them to 1,400 loggers with Bowater's Pulp and Paper Mills in western Newfoundland.

The vouchers provide $5 worth of food weekly for each logger, another $5 worth for wives and $2 worth for each child.

Labor groups have been unanimous in their condemnation of the legislation which decertified the IWA.

The Canadian Labor Congress has called on the federal govern-

New B.C. Cancer Research Centre
VANCOUVER (CP)—British Columbia will take a major part in the attack on cancer with construction of a new cancer research centre in the province.

F.H. Brown, president of the B.C. division of the Canadian Cancer Society, says the centre will be housed in a new medical sciences building at the University of B.C. here.

Construction is to start this summer and the centre should be in operation next year.

Mr. Brown, speaking at the B.C. division annual meeting, said the research centre represents the start of a dream of long standing.

The unit will cost an estimated $600,000.

Mr. Brown said the division has raised its fund-drive target by about 20 per cent this year to $296,000. The campaign, which raised more than $250,000 last year, starts April 1.

Canada Provides Aid to West Indies Federation

By D'ARCY O'DONNELL

Canadian Press Staff Writer

PORT OF SPAIN, Trinidad (CP)—Canada and the United Kingdom have provided the only financial aid and the bulk of the technical assistance received by the West Indies federation in its first year.

More than half the $10,000,000 Canadian grant is to pay for two Canadian-built passenger-cargo ships for a government service linking the 10 federated British colonies of the Caribbean. The rest is to improve port facilities.

In an agreement signed Feb. 25, the United States undertook to provide some technical assistance, the nature of which will be decided in discussions West Indies officials will have with Rollin S. Atwood, president of the U.S. Institute of Inter-American Affairs.

Construction of the ships to be built by Canada on West Indies specifications will be started later this year. Delivery is expected within 18 months to two years after the start of construction.

BALANCE FOR HARBORS

Government sources here estimate $2,500,000 to $3,000,000 will remain of the Canadian grant after payment for the ships. The amount would cover only a small portion of the sum needed to provide members of the federation with adequate harbor facilities.

Jamaica, Trinidad, St. Lucia and Grenada now are the only members with dock facilities. Barbados has a deepwater harbor under construction. In other islands ships anchor in deep water and cargoes are landed by lighters.

There is also a general lack of mechanical equipment in the harbors. A visitor to the harbor at Kingston, Jamaica, can almost any day see longshoremen leaping unloading a cargo of lumber, two men removing one piece of lumber at a time. Cranes could remove in one hour more than the crew remove in a day.

Communications Minister Andrew Rose said that "with assistance of the Canadian government we hope to get experts to survey the requirements of our ports and harbors."

DIVERSIFY ECONOMY

Canadian aid will help the federation in its attempts to diversify the economy, of its island members and to make them more self-sufficient in staple food products.

Because of the similarity of their economies there now is little trade among the federated islands—Antigua, Barbados, Dominica, Grenada, Jamaica, Montserrat, St. Christopher, Nevis, Anguilla, St. Lucia, St. Vincent, and Trinidad and Tobago.

Jamaica exports bauxite, Trinidad oil, and both have a few secondary industries. But the economy generally rests on sugar, rum, molasses, citrus, cocoa, coffee, spices and cotton.

The islands export what they grow and import most foods. Meat is obtained from Australia and New Zealand; fish from Newfoundland; potatoes from the Maritime provinces; some vegetables from Ontario and Quebec; wheat and flour from Western Canada and the United States.

Canadian technical experts on loan to the federation have been given key roles in the attempt by the federal government to bring about some change in this pattern.

AIDS AGRICULTURE

O. E. Henry, senior assistant secretary in the department of agriculture, said in an interview that experts now are trying to advance the season for Montserrat tomatoes, some of the best in the world. The domestic market for them is limited because they become available when all the other islands are also reaping tomato crops.

"If we could advance the Montserrat season by a couple of weeks, we feel we could market its crop without any difficulty," said Mr. Henry.

St. Vincent grows a large amount of market garden produce, but its problem is much the same as that of Montserrat. Research is going on into ways to maintain livestock grasslands and into animal health. Dairy and beef cattle have increased in recent years, but still they supply only a small proportion of the domestic market.

OTHER RESEARCH
To maintain and increase the quality of products now exported, said Mr. Henry, research has been launched into problems connected with banana and citrus fruit crops. A disease-resistant cocoa tree has been found and now is being planted in various parts of the islands. Better grades of coffee are constantly being sought. Efforts are being made to stop recurrent cotton failures.

Two Fathers Testify About Rink Collapse

LISTOWEL, Ont. (CP)—Two fathers who feared Listowel Arena was unsafe and forbade their children to enter it, Tuesday testified at the inquiry into the tragic collapse of the building.

Seven young hockey players and the town's recreation director died Feb. 28 when the roof fell in under the weight of tons of snow.

Douglas Bricker, a watchmaker, and Les Burnett, a car salesman, were among 43 of 120 witnesses subpoenaed who testified Tuesday. The inquest is specifically investigating the death of Kenneth McLeod, the recreation director.

Mr. Bricker said he noticed a deep layer of snow on the arena roof just five days before the collapse. He went to Henry Lorch, chairman of the park board. He said Mr. Lorch told him that arena manager Percy Knoblauch had told him the building was "creaking and cracking" and that much of the snow load had been removed.

FORBODE CHILDREN

"I forbade my two children to enter the arena until the snow was removed," Mr. Bricker said. Mr. Burnett said he became concerned with the amount of snow he saw on the arena roof after hearing stories of other structures collapsing. He refused permission for his children to attend an ice carnival the night before the collapse.

Mr. Lorch testified he saw "tons of snow" removed from the rink roof but felt too much was left on.

Russell Daley, a carpenter with a construction firm, criticized the structure, saying the roof had not enough pitch to allow snow to slide off and that sections which were glued should have been bolted and nailed.

Most of the decorative wheel discs of today's automobiles are made of nickel-containing stainless steel because of its corrosion resistance, toughness and good working characteristics.

New Housing Shortage May Be Building Up

TORONTO (CP)—Canada has in large measure overcome its housing shortage but a new one may be building up, the Bank of Nova Scotia indicates in its current Monthly Review.

"By 1958, when the industry completed 147,000 houses, the housing shortage had been reduced to the lowest proportions in at least 30 years," the review comments.

"Families without their own living quarters appear to have dropped to about seven per cent

Railway to be Abandoned if River Flooded

VICTORIA (CP)—Lands Minister Williston says the Axel Wenner-Gren interests can go no further with surveys for a railway in north central British Columbia until it is decided whether the Rocky Mountain trench will be flooded for power development.

Under CCF questioning in the legislature the minister said the group has completed a rail feasibility study in the trench.

But the planned railway would have to be abandoned if Peace River is flooded. But permission has been given for another rail feasibility survey to the west of the trench.

Power surveys should be far enough advanced by this summer to decide whether Peace power development will succeed. In that event the Wenner-Gren interests would proceed west of the trench.

The minister did not indicate whether a monorail or standard-gauge railway was planned. When the agreement was first announced a monorail was mentioned.

Under the agreement, the Wenner-Gren interests are committed to start construction on a railway by the spring of 1960.

Mr. Williston said not one stick of timber in the area has been given away, as charged by the opposition.

And if the Wenner-Gren people "don't build a pulp mill or utilization plant of some sort, they won't get one log or one stick of wood," he added.

He said it was estimated that in the trench area there is enough timber to keep a 450,000 ton pulp mill going for five years. In the adjoining basin there was enough to keep five mills of the same capacity going in perpetuity.

"Where Quality Costs No More"

KELLY'S CORNER

An ironic twist to the recent move by three B.C. Lions' directors to have Herb Capozzi ejected as manager of the club, goes back to the Ted Bowsfield testimonial banquet held here in February.

At that time, seated at the head table as guests of honor, were two protagonists in the recent squabble in Vancouver.

Capozzi and Hec McDonald, all sweetness and light on that occasion, were busy tossing back and forth large airy bouquets as to what a fine effort each was making in his respective job. Subsequent happenings might easily have been confusing if it were not for the previous chequered career of B.C. Lions' management-coach-executive relations.

It seems ridiculous that this beleaguered club, which has had the worst playing record and the finest fan support in the history of Canadian football, is still a melting pot of dissention and petty jealousies.

Knowing Hec McDonald as we do we feel certain that he must have had some grounds for his abortive attempt, but it augurs ill for new coach Wayne Robinson's chances of bringing order out of chaos for the Lions this year.

The thing that is so completely mystifying about the whole situation is the fact that the Lions, while running through four coaches in their short career, have retained a general manager who has been under constant fire since his appointment.

The board of directors of the Lions seem to put no stock in the old axiom that, "where there is smoke there's fire". Remaining completely mesmerized by Capozzi they back him against all forms of attack.

We must say that this is not surprising to us in view of his performance here at the banquet.

As one who knew him way-back, seeing him since he has been cut and polished into the executive of today, was impressive.

It looks from here as if Capozzi, if he has no other talent, can certainly talk.

We are convinced that the greater majority of the people who attended the banquet, went away thinking that Capozzi was the greatest thing since the invention of the wheel and that the B.C. Lions were in good hands.

This ability of being able to sway people, while it may not necessarily bode well for the Lions' fortunes, will certainly make it difficult for any party bent on accomplishing his removal.

A THOUGHT THAT occurred to us while staring at the one-eyed monster last night watching the weekly Sports Roundup, was what a terrific competitor erstwhile coach, hockey player and TV announcer, Moe Young, really is.

Not always having been a member of the Moe Young Fan Club we find it a little strange to be singing his praises.

The thing that brought about this soliloquy was the presentation to Moe by Vernon radio announcer Don Warner of a lunch bucket.

While we appreciate the spirit in which it was given and hold no brief against Warner, in that we really enjoyed the joke, it struck us at the time that of all the Packers, Moe was the least responsible for their unemployment situation.

To this jaundiced eye nobody, but nobody, put more into keeping the Packers off the dome than Moe Young.

Though we could be wrong, (this has been known on one or two occasions) we feel, that if the same spirit of drive and determination had pervaded the rest of the team; as burnt in the breast of Moe, the Packers would still be on the Allan Cup trail. AMEN.

Wilson Ties NHL Games Played Record

By THE CANADIAN PRESS. Detroit Red Wings should mark Johnny Wilson "fragile" and wrap him up in cotton wool until next Saturday afternoon.

For if the muscular Detroit leftwinger can avoid offence practice injuries until then he'll set a National Hockey League record for consecutive games played.

Wilson tied the 22-year-old record of 508 regular season games Tuesday night in Detroit as he played his usual useful, if unspectacular, game and helped his team to a 2-0 win over Chicago Black Hawks. The win kept the last-place Wings within mathematical distance of the NHL playoffs.

SPARED IN 1951. Wilson, a native of Kincardine, Ont., started his string Feb. 10, 1951, with Detroit, shifted to Chicago in 1955 and came back to the Wings last season.

In his NHL career Murdoch Arthritis is no respecter of age, occupation, creed or financial status. It can attack anyone from two to ninety-two.

English Football League Wants Ban on Television

By M. MCINTYRE HOOD. Special to The Penticton Herald. LONDON—Heads of the English Football League, at their annual conference, started a large-sized controversy on the subject of televising of football and other sports events. The League chiefs contend that Saturday afternoon televising of all sports events is detrimental to the attendance at soccer matches. They agreed to institute negotiations with a view to having all such events banned from television on Saturday afternoons.

But other sports bodies will have none of it. The racing organizations won't go along with the soccer moguls. They like racing on TV, on Saturday or any afternoon. It looks as if the football managers have bitten off more than they can chew in this proposal.

The cup-like confusion of January has apparently made no impression on the football league heads. They have left the cup dates in their schedule at the same dates as during the present season, with the third round in January. There was a wide-spread demand that there should be no cup games scheduled for January in future, on account of

CROSSAN AGAIN STANDOUT

Norwich Loses Out To Luton Town 1-0

BIRMINGHAM, England (CP)—Luton Town defeated underdogs Norwich City 1-0 today and qualified for the final of the English Soccer Cup competition.

Luton will meet Notts Forest in the final between the two first-division teams May 2.

Norwich, trying to become the first Third-Division team in the 88-year-old history of the cup to reach the cup final, made most of the early running in the game played at Birmingham before a crowd of 60,000.

But it was Luton who got the goal—all against the run of play in the 57th minute. Winger Billy Bingham was the scorer.

So ended Norwich's gallant bid for soccer glory. For most of the game Norwich swarmed around the Luton goal, but lacked a sharp-shooting marksman to put the finishing touch.

Norwich upset all the forecasts by defeating famous teams such as Manchester United, Tottenham Hotspur, Cardiff City and Sheffield United on its way to the semi-final.

Last Saturday Norwich and Luton tied 1-1. The Third-Division squad had the sentimental support of fans in just about every city in England—except Luton. But Luck deserted them today.

Star of the Luton team was centre half and captain Syd Owen who rallied his team as Norwich attacked. He seemed to be here, there and everywhere—clearing and pushing the ball through to his own forwards.

CROSSAN OUTSTANDING. Errol Crossan, Montreal native who learned his soccer in British Columbia's Pacific Coast League was outstanding for Norwich.

Crossan's speed was too much for Luton left back Ken Hawkes and time and again he gave Norwich scoring chances.

After 20 minutes he sent in a high curling shot which Luton goalkeeper Ron Baynham only just cleared. Crossan followed with a close-range effort that whistled past a post.

Just before half-time Crossan cut loose again, left two defenders standing and hammered the ball low into the middle. Baynham missed it but right-back Brendan McNally turned up on the goal line to avert a score.

SUFFERED BRUISES. Crossan, formerly with New Westminster Royals, played despite severe bruises suffered Saturday in the teams' 1-1 draw.

Luton's goal came completely against the run of the play. Bingham, submerged in the middle of a crowd of defenders, banged a shot into the roof of the net.

In other games tonight Vancouver travels to Seattle and Victoria plays a return game at New Westminster. The season ends this weekend with the playoffs getting under way next week.

five-point performance to pace Spokane. He scored once and gained four assists. Al Johnson had two goals for Spokane, Ching Johnson, Blinky Boyce and Joe Lund one each. Ted Hampson, Ray Cyr, Ron Howell and Les Lilley shared the Vancouver scoring.

CLINCH SECOND PLACE. Saturday they clinched a playoff spot with a handy 5-2 win over Saskatoon Quakers. Tuesday they clinched second place with a determined 4-2 victory over Winnipeg Warriors before 5,000 Winnipeg fans.

Tonight the Flyers again meet the Quakers and another victory will set the stage for a home-and-home season—ending two games between Quakers and Warriors. The victors get the last playoff spot.

Meanwhile, at the coast Vancouver Canucks backed into second place as New Westminster shut out Victoria 4-0 at Victoria while Spokane Flyers nipped Vancouver 6-4 at Spokane.

The win was costly for Flyers who lost winger Buddy Bodman for the season when he suffered a dislocated knee in the second period.

ZANIER STARS AGAIN. At Victoria, rookie Reno Zanier turned aside 43 shots for the Royals in another fine display.

In the Winnipeg-Edmonton contest, McNeill again sparked Flyers scoring twice, including the winner. After a dull first period, each team scored once in the second period before Edmonton came up with three goals to one for Winnipeg in the last period.

Max Meklikov turned in a fine he piloted his boys to the world title.

Belleville's best friend wouldn't drape a collective halo around the heads of the Canadians for 100 per cent gentlemanly conduct during their seven-game march to the championship. Their total of 97 minutes in penalties was far and away the highest in the tournament, with the Russians a distant runner-up at 54.

Before the preliminary round began in Bratislava two weeks ago, an eavesdropping reporter overheard Ike briefing the boys in their dressing room.

"I don't care what you think of the call," he said. "If you get a penalty, you're going to keep your mouth shut and skate straight to the box."

On the 43 occasions that Canadians did time in the course of the tournament, not one violated the coach's instructions.

United, Haynes (Fulham), and Holden (Bolton).

SCOTTISH SURPRISES. The Scottish Football Association selectors sprung a surprise in picking John Howie of Charlton as inside left and Graham Leggat of Fulham as outside left for their trial game against a Scottish League team. Howie has previously played for Scotland as back and half-back, but this season he has done well for Charlton as an inside forward. Leggat has always played outside right in his previous appearances for Scotland, but Fulham have switched him to outside left, where he has been outstanding. Much of the interest in the game was taken away when Arsenal could not release Docherty, Ford and Henderson for it, and Nottingham Forest, still in the hunt for the cup, could not release Quigley and Tilmach.

The Scottish League team includes a number of names new to representative football, the idea being to give them a chance to show if they are ready for international honours.

On the eve of the semi-finals for the English Cup, Luton Town, at 15 and 8, emerged as favorites in the betting. Nottingham Forest are just behind at 2 to 1, with Aston Villa at 3 to 1 and Norwich at 13 to 2. Two of these teams will have to go down in the semi-finals.

Phil Woosnam, for whom West Ham paid Layton Orient £30,000 last fall, is out of the team for the rest of the season. He has to undergo a knee cartilage operation.

March 16 is the deadline for transfers of players in the current season. By then, the battle to secure the services of Mel Charles, on Swansea's transfer list, will be decided.

Junior Skiers Getting Ready For Big Meet

YAKIMA, Wash. — (AP) — Junior skiers from Canada and the United States gathered on the slopes of Pigtail Peak today to begin practicing for the 1959 national junior ski championships which begin Thursday.

More than 200 entrants are expected to take part in the four day cross-country, downhill, slalom and jumping events on the peak at White Pass in the Cascade Mountains 53 miles west of here.

Most of the favorites are 18-year-olds — the age limit—but Jimmy Huega of Tahoe City, Calif., only 15, is regarded the likely winner of the Alpine event. Elizabeth Green, 17, of Trail, B.C., will attempt to add the national girls' title to her Canadian junior Alpine crown.

The title holder in the girls event is Starr Walton of Sacramento, Calif., who will defend in the Alpine event. Loras Werner of Steamboat Springs — younger brother of men's alpine champ Buddy Werner — is defending the boys' Alpine title.

Vexing Problems For Jill St. John

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Jill St. John's saga might be titled "how to marry a millionaire."

Her problem is that she is going steady with Lance Reventlow, the heir to Barbara Hutton's millions. Their friendship has been much publicized.

"Everyone is trying to marry us off," she wails. "I'm not ready to get married. I did it once when I was 16, and it was a terrible mistake. I married a man of 24 whom I had met on a blind date. I had known him only two months."

"I've known Lance three years. I think I might like to know him another three years before I decide about marrying him."

NEVER MENTIONED

Lance's feelings on this score? She said he has never mentioned marriage.

There's another problem with

WORDS OF THE WISE

Jill Reventlow's hobby, business and whole life revolves around racing cars.

"Racing is a fine sport—for other people's boy friends," she commented.

"People say to me that if Lance loved me, he would give up racing," she said. "But if I loved him, I wouldn't ask him to leave his whole life, and he has had fantastic success with it."

PROBLEM OF GIFTS

Another problem is not so serious, but just as vexing: How do you buy a gift for a young man who has everything?

"He gives me such nice things—like a ring with a white rose set in diamonds," remarked the 18-year-old, brown-haired beauty. "I like to give him nice things, too."

"But what? Jewelry? His mother has given him everything he could possibly use. I solved the problem last Christmas by stealing one of his spoons with his family crest on it. I had a jeweler copy the crest on gold buttons for a blazer. Lance was delighted."

French Stand May Hurt Chances of Getting A-Subs

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congressional sources report France may have torpedoed her bid for access to U.S. atomic submarine secrets by withholding her naval vessels from NATO command.

Certain French fleet units had been committed to the North Atlantic Treaty Command in the event of war but France notified NATO officials last week she had decided to keep the entire Mediterranean fleet under French command.

The sources said privately that decision of the de Gaulle government could prove the clinching argument for denial of the request.

They contended the U.S.

THE PENTAGON HERALD 11

Atomic Energy Law specifically provides that to be eligible for sharing such secrets, a country must be making "substantial contribution to the mutual defense and security" of the free world. France has asked for a share of U.S. atomic submarine secrets and for permission to buy an American-made atomic power plant for such a vessel.

CONGRESS MUST AGREE

Under the law, a request approved by the president must be submitted to Congress. Approval there is automatic unless congress passes a resolution rejecting it.

Even before the French announcement, there had been congressional opposition.

Well managed, the Canadian forests can be harvested forever.

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
1♠	Pass	2♠	Pass
2♠	Pass	3♠	Pass
3♠	Pass	4♠	Pass

Opening lead—nine of spades.

A reader in Seattle sends this hand, which was played in a duplicate tournament. It appears that at virtually every table the final contract was six spades, and that in every case but one the contract was defeated one, two, or even more tricks. I am asked, to comment on the bidding and play.

The bidding shown strikes me as being completely reasonable. That is the way the bidding went when Lois Barde, playing with her husband, Ted, held the South hand.

Having first signed off with two diamonds, North could well afford to jump to four spades when his hand took on greatly added value as support for a spade contract. South could hardly bid less than six opposite the enthusiastic raise.

It is not hard to figure out why so many of the South players were defeated in the slam contract. Undoubtedly, they attempted to crossruff the hand, ruffing as many hearts or clubs in dummy as they could.

But there weren't enough trumps in dummy for this course of play to succeed, and, after a while, these declarers ran out of steam, going down various amounts of tricks.

It is a strange thing that so many declarers suffer a blind spot when playing this type of hand. The attitude should be that dummy is the master hand and should take the bulk of the tricks.

Declarer need not worry about the heart and club losers he has. Instead, he should concentrate on establishing the diamond suit in dummy. If he can build up the diamonds, the hearts and clubs will take care of themselves.

Mrs. Barde made the slam in 11 tricks. She won the spade lead in dummy with the ten, cashed the ace of diamonds, and trumped a low diamond, West's king falling. Then she overtook the jack of spades with the queen, cashed the spade ace, and conceded the jack of diamonds to the queen.

Dummy now had the rest of the tricks in conjunction with Mrs. Barde's two aces. That's all there was to it.

Rail Superintendents Not So Hard-Shell'd, Girl Finds

REVELSTOKE, B.C.—(Special)—All railwaymen will agree that operating superintendents go strictly by the book. They are classed as hard-shelled men.

But there is always a soft spot in the shell, as 10-year-old Reta Hoepner of Sicamous, B.C., can testify.

Late in February her pet German shepherd dog met death under a CPR freight train. She and her sister were heartbroken at the loss of "their best friend."

Reta said so in these words in a letter addressed to George Meldrum, CPR superintendent at Revelstoke.

A few days ago when the CPR's transcontinental train The Dominion stopped at Sicamous, Meldrum personally presented Reta with a playful pup answering to the name of Cindy. It took 10 seconds for Reta and Cindy to decide they were the best of friends.

As the train pulled out Reta could be seen gaily romping along the station platform with a firm grip on Cindy's leash, and no doubt with the words of Mr. Meldrum firmly imbedded in her mind that "trains and dogs don't mix."

Nova Scotia Coal to Get Federal Aid

OTTAWA (CP)—New federal aid for the Nova Scotia coal industry was announced Tuesday in the Commons by Prime Minister Diefenbaker.

Beyond a few questions by opposition members and cabinet replies, the coal announcement was all the Commons dealt with.

At that point, Mr. Diefenbaker interrupted proceedings to announce the sudden death of External Affairs Minister Smith. Both the Commons and Senate adjourned at once for the rest of the day out of respect.

SPECIAL FREIGHT SUBSIDY
The coal program provides for a special $4,300,000 freight subsidy aimed at putting some 700,000 tons of Nova Scotia's surplus coal on the Ontario market.

The Nova Scotia government will contribute $500,000 for the special one-year program and the federal government the rest, Mr. Diefenbaker said.

DETAILS LATER
Mr. Diefenbaker said details will be announced later of a general change in maximum subsidies—transportation subsidies—for Maritimes coal moving into established market areas in Quebec and eastern Ontario. The changes would be to ensure the markets won't be harmed by the opening this spring of the St. Lawrence Seaway.

The annual cost for the subvention to Nova Scotia coal would be $8,100,000—about what the program in the province has cost in the past.

Opposition Leader Pearson and CCF House Leader Hazen Argue both said the new subsidies will be welcomed.

Dief Criticizes Smallwood

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister Diefenbaker has accused Premier Smallwood of greatly aggravating the Newfoundland labour strike and has called on both sides in the bitter loggers' dispute to pull back their forces for a two-week cooling off period.

But the 1,150,000-member Canadian Labor Congress, in a statement, rejected the cooling-off proposal, saying this would only provide "aid and comfort" to Mr. Smallwood "in the pursuit of a course which Mr. Diefenbaker has described as beyond the role of a democratic government."

Congress President Claude Jodoin called again for federal disallowance of the Newfoundland labor legislation under which the International Woodworkers of America (IWA) was decertified.

STILL MAY DISALLOW
Justice Minister Fulton told a press conference the question of disallowance is still before the government.

MORE YARD MEN
LONDON (Reuters)—London will get more detectives to cope with an increase in crime, Scotland Yard announced Tuesday. The annual crime rate has risen to 151,000 from 126,000 but the number of detectives is still 1,400.

NEW OIL FIELD
BELGRADE (Reuters)—A new oilfield which is expected to double production in Croatia to 1,000,000 tons has been discovered near Sibenik, it was reported Tuesday. The new strike is said to be the richest ever found in Yugoslavia.

CIVIL SERVANTS, GOV'T IN DISPUTE

Ruling on Injunction Awaited

By JIM PEACOCK
Canadian Press Staff Writer
VANCOUVER (CP)—Next

moves in a drawn-out dispute between the British Columbia Government and the provincial government over collective bargaining rights awaits a decision, expected today, on an application for an injunction restraining the BCGEA from picketing government buildings.

Mr. Justice J. G. Ruttan of the B.C. Supreme Court heard more than three hours of argument Tuesday, then reserved decision stating he would make it known as quickly as possible.

The government sought to have an interim injunction, granted last Friday when the BCGEA called its 11,000 members out on strike, extended until date of trial.

The BCGEA contended the application was for a blanket, indefinite injunction and that there was no intention to take the matter to any trial.

AGREE TO COURT TEST
M. M. MacFarlane, acting for the attorney-general, said his client is prepared to take the matter of legality of the picketing involved to trial "as soon as my friend wishes to do so."

He referred to Thomas Dohm, counsel for the BCGEA.

The whole dispute is over the question of whether the BCGEA should be given trade union status, including collective bargaining rights.

It began some time ago and a strike threatened over the matter in 1957 was averted when the government appointed professor A. W. Carrothers of the University of B.C. to study the collective-bargaining question.

His report has been turned over to the government and the BCGEA has said the dispute could be settled with the publishing of it.

Last Friday, the BCGEA called its members off the job in an unprecedented strike. They went back to work less than four hours later when the government obtained an interim injunction, returnable in Supreme Court here Tuesday.

At Tuesday's hearing, Mr. Mac-

Farlane argued that the injunction should be continued because the picketing was an infringement on the right of the public and of crown employees to enter and leave public buildings freely. He contended the purpose of the pickets was to disrupt and embarrass government operations. The government counsel also contended the picketing was illegal in purpose because it was designed to prevent people from entering and leaving public buildings to carry out lawful affairs and because it was in support of an illegal strike and because the BCGEA issued passes for persons to cross picket lines and this was coercion.

Mr. Dohm argued that the writ sworn to obtain the original injunction asserted no right, no claim of a nuisance and no declaration in regard to actions of government employees. No wrongful acts had been committed in connection with the picketing which took place. The facts did not bear out anticipated results.

If Mr. Justice Ruttan continues the injunction, then the BCGEA is expected to carry the matter to a higher court. If it is not continued, the association says it will set a new strike deadline.

The government may contest the legality of the picketing and the whole question of legality of a strike of civil servants.

If renewal of the strike is threatened, the government also holds the broad powers of the Civil Defence Act, which may be used to forestall any lengthy tie-up of government services.

B.C., Ottawa Relations Good On Power Plans
VICTORIA (CP)—The British Columbia legislature was told that B.C. and Ottawa are "on the best of relations" on plans for power development of the Columbia River.

Lands and Forests Minister Williston said that in recent weeks relations between the province and federal authorities changed from "the poorest we ever had" to the best.

"It is too bad that we get into an almost critical situation" before there is effective liaison on Columbia development, he told the House during consideration of $12,153,000 in estimates for his department. The estimates were passed later.

Alberta legislature was told by Agriculture Minister L. C. Halmrast it has the best provincial civil defence in Canada.

Mr. Halmrast, in charge of civil defence, made the statement in answer to Opposition Conservative party demands for a full statement on civil defence plans.

The minister, still on his feet at adjournment, gets another chance to state his case on another private member's day.

The Social Credit government also turned its attention to a CCF motion calling for consideration of a provincial power commission. The motion was defeated 39-6.

DISCUSS OBSCENITY
Ontario's Opposition Liberals turned their wrath on pornographic magazines and demanded action to ban the "Yankee trash" and the "cancer in our society."

Liberal Leader John Wintermeyer said it was a "disgrace to the people of Ontario to permit this situation to continue."

After glancing through a magazine tendered for his inspection Premier Frost declared: "Maybe we should close off all the bathing beaches. I've seen worse there myself."

The Social Credit government also turned its attention to a CCF motion calling for consideration of a provincial power commission. The motion was defeated 39-6.

RETAIN FAMILY FARM
The bill, which provides for loans as high as $25,000, is seen by Premier Douglas as a measure to retain the family farm as an organization to be passed down from one generation to the next.

The borrower must have a down payment of 20 per cent for the land or equipment he wishes to buy and if he is no older than 40 years can take as long as 30 years in which to repay.

Interest rates have not been fixed but Provincial Treasurer Fines has said the rate may be as high as 6½ per cent.

New Brunswick's fishing industry came under survey with a suggestion that study be given to alternate markets, possibly Italy, Spain, Portugal and Cuba.

Fred C. Young, Liberal member for Gloucester, said that while markets appeared good at present there should be a safeguard in case of raised U.S. tariffs against Canadian processed fish.

Terrorists Return Home

By WEBB MCKINLEY

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP)—EOKA's war is over and the boys are heading home.

The wiry youths so recently called terrorists now are hailed as heroes on the streets of Nicosia.

They do not appear fierce. It is hard to imagine them padding silently along an alley, gun in hand, or waiting for the right instant to set off a land mine on a mountain road.

They look more like young clerks, accountants, students, electricians, lawyers or farmers—which in fact they once were.

But the four-year war they fought in EOKA, the Greek Cypriot underground, for independence from Britain was tough and ruthless. A total of 393 killings were attributed to EOKA. More than half the victims were Greek Cypriot civilians marked as traitors to the cause of Enosis, or the union of Cyprus with Greece.

The Enosis plan did not win

Wednesday, March 18, 1959
THE PICTON HERALD 12

and on the advice of its leadership, EOKA has accepted the recently-adopted plan for eventual independence for the strategic Mediterranean island.

50 AGAINST 30,000

The hatreds born in the struggle washed over into intercommunal fighting between Greek and Turkish Cypriots that took another 115 lives. All in all, including those killed by British security forces, the war left 601 dead and 1,260 wounded.

On the face of it, EOKA was battling hopeless odds. Its own hard core centred in the mountains probably never numbered more than 50 men, although the line of communication and part-time adherents ran into thousands. Against them, Britain threw in as many as 30,000 of its best troops.

How did EOKA do it?

The answer is Col. George Grivas, a Cyprus-born retired Greek army officer with the pseudonym of Digenis, who formed the underground, led it, and now has disbanded it.
